3. What personal data we process and where we collect personal information from

We process personal data that we receive from you in the context of our business relationship. To the extent necessary in order to provide our services we also process personal data obtained from publicly available sources such as the Department of Registrar of Companies and Official Receiver, the Land Registry, commercial registers, the media and third parties we cooperate with (e.g. insurers, introducers, advisers, legal firms, tracing agencies, debt collection agencies, credit reference agencies, anti-money laundering prevention authorities etc.).

Personal data, or personal information, means any information about an individual from which that person can be identified. We may also sometimes collectively refer to e.g. collection, recording, retrieval, use, disclosure, erasure or transmission of any data or set of data as “processing” of personal data.

Relevant personal data may include, amongst others:

- a) Identification data, such as surname, forename, identity card/passport number, tax identification number, date and place of birth, nationality and other demographic data.
- b) Communication data, such as postal and e-mail address, landline and mobile phone number.
- c) Economic data, property and family status data, for instance profession, earnings, dependent family members, tax and income data.
- d) Data regarding failure to meet financial obligations, such as information regarding cheques that have not been honored, failure to make due payments on credit agreements, information regarding court proceedings and collections, bankruptcies, dismissal of debt orders and personal repayment schemes.
- e) Credit data, such as debts to credit and/or financial institutions.
- f) Credit profiling and credit scoring.
- g) Transactional behavior data, including, where applicable, internet browsing data (cookies).
- h) Data from your contract(s) with Bank and your use of the products granted.
- i) Data on your knowledge and experience in the investment sector.
- j) Data from payment transactions and payment services.
- k) Data relating to your identity, provided from devices or applications you use, such as the IP address, or other data provided through the devices used by you as location identifiers which, alone or in combination with unique identifying identifiers, may be used to identify you.
- l) Data relating to telephone communications with you, which may be recorded in compliance with legal requirements.

We wish to bring to your attention that we do not process, without your explicit consent, personal data revealing e.g. racial or ethnic origin, political opinions, religious or philosophical beliefs, trade union membership, genetic data, data concerning health or data concerning a natural person's sex life or sexual orientation, referred to as special categories of personal data in the GDPR, however we cannot rule out the possibility that such information is communicated to us by you.

4. Who we disclose your personal data to

Nothing relating to your personal data will be disclosed to anyone, other than in the cases permitted by the legal and regulatory framework in force from time to time. These are:

- a) Where we (or any third party acting on our behalf) are legally compelled to do so.
- b) Where it is in our legitimate interests to disclose information (e.g. to protect us from loss or to recover any loss that we have incurred).
- c) Where disclosure is made at your request or with your consent or to satisfy our contractual obligations towards you.
- d) Where disclosure is required for purposes of compliance with the legal and regulatory framework governing and binding Bank, such as, when it comes to disclosing information from correspondent banks about specific transactions to prevent money laundering and terrorist financing.

Personal data may be shared with companies within the Alpha Bank Group (that is, our holding company Alpha Bank S.A. and its subsidiary companies and our subsidiary companies) for credit assessment, collective risk assessment, group unified treatment where applicable, and compliance with regulatory requirements.

Your personal data is also shared with organisations and bodies including but not limited to:

- a) Regulatory and other authorities, within the context of their legal obligations and/or authorities.
- b) Credit reference agencies (e.g. Artemis Bank Information Systems Ltd), debt collection, tracing and fraud prevention agencies.
- c) Any party linked with you or your business's product or service, such as guarantors and security providers.

- d) Independent financial and other advisors.
- e) Companies or individuals you ask us to share your data with.
- f) Natural persons and legal entities, to which the Bank assigns the execution of certain tasks on its behalf, including amongst others, insurance companies, call center companies, lawyers, law firms, notaries and bailiffs, mediators and mediation centers, experts, database management companies, risk management companies, research companies of communication and/or property data, file storage and record-keeping companies, market research, advertising and promotion companies acting on behalf of the Bank, as well as postal service providers, providers of services related to the development, maintenance and customization of IT applications, e-mail service providers, companies providing web-hosting services, including cloud services, companies providing specialized payment services.
- g) Banks and other financial institutions and payment service providers based in Cyprus or abroad which have been licensed and operate legally, for the purpose of facilitating (i) the execution of transactions to and from your accounts and (ii) the provision of services you request.
- h) Institutions offering co-financing, financing or provision of guarantees, where appropriate, such as the European Investment Bank and the Republic of Cyprus.
- i) Natural or legal persons with which we have contracted, amongst others, for the provision of services to us, including services relating to the operation of your accounts and the provision of services to you, and which are bound by confidentiality provisions or professional secrecy obligations.
- j) If you have a debit or any type of credit card with us, we will share transaction details with companies which help us to provide this service (such as Visa and Mastercard).
- k) If you have been granted a product which is linked with a loyalty scheme offered by a business partner of Bank we may need to share your personal data to the extent necessary for the provision of the loyalty scheme.
- l) If you apply through our network for an insurance policy offered by an insurance company, we may pass your personal or business details to the insurer.

We may also share your personal information if the structure of Alpha Bank Group changes in the future or if we choose to sell, transfer, or merge parts of our business, or our assets, or seek to merge with other companies.

5. Why do we process your data (purpose of the processing) and on what legal basis

We process the aforementioned personal data in compliance with the provisions of GDPR, applicable local legislation as amended and/or replaced from time to time as well as any other relevant legislation, rules and/or regulations.

We will only use your personal data for the purposes for which we collected it, unless we reasonably consider that we need to use it for another reason and that reason is compatible with the original purpose.

We process your personal data for one or more of the following reasons:

a) For compliance with a legal obligation

As a bank, we are subject to various legal obligations (e.g. in relation to anti-fraud and anti-money laundering) as well as banking regulatory requirements (as set by e.g. the European Central Bank or the Central Bank of Cyprus).

b) For the entering into or performance of contractual obligations

The processing of personal data is carried out in order to perform banking transactions and provide financial services pursuant to contracts with you or to take steps at your request prior to entering into a contract. The purposes of the data processing are primarily dependent on the specific product granted to you and the contract terms and conditions provide more details concerning the relevant purposes.

c) For the purposes of safeguarding legitimate interests

Where necessary, we process your data in order to safeguard our legitimate interests. Examples of such processing include but are not limited to:

- i. Receiving from and/or exchanging data with credit reference agencies to determine credit or default risks.
- ii. Asserting legal claims and mounting a defence in the event of litigation.
- iii. Preventing crimes.

- iv. Actions to manage our business and further develop services and products.
- v. Safeguarding the bank's IT security and IT operations.
- vi. Monitoring CCTV footage to safeguard against trespassers, to gather evidence in the event of robbery or fraud or to document withdrawals and deposits, e. g. at ATMs.
- vii. Measures for premises' and systems' security.
- viii. Risk management.
- ix. Transferring, assigning (whether outright or as security for obligations) and/or selling to one or more persons (including the Central Bank of Cyprus) of, and/or charging and/or placing an encumbrance over any or all of Bank's rights, title or interest under any agreement between you and Bank.

d) On the basis of your consent

Insofar as you have granted us consent for the processing of your personal data for marketing purposes, the lawfulness of such processing is based on your consent.

Any such consent granted, may be revoked at any time by contacting us. This also applies to the revocation of declarations of consent regarding marketing that were granted to us prior to the entry into force of the GDPR, i.e. prior to 25 May 2018.

6. How long we keep your personal information for

We will keep your personal information for as long as you are a customer of Bank and/or for as long as you maintain any type of relationship with Bank.

After your relationship with Bank ends, we may keep your personal information for a period of up to 10 (ten) years. We may keep your data for longer than the said period if we cannot delete it for legal and/or regulatory and/or technical reasons. If we do so, we will ensure that your privacy is protected and the data is used only for the purposes stated in paragraph 5 above.

We also note that if, by the expiration of the above period, there are on-going judicial proceedings with the Bank concerning directly or indirectly the customer, then, the above period for the retention of the data will be extended until a final judicial decision is issued.

In case you provide us with personal data for the purposes of becoming a customer of Bank but for any reason whatsoever you do not become a customer, we shall keep your personal information for a period of up to 6 (six) months from the date of notification of the rejection of your application for banking services and/or credit facilities, or from the date of withdrawal of such application, in accordance with directives issued by the Cyprus Commissioner for the protection of personal data.

In all respects, where a shorter or longer time period for the retention of data is provided for by law or regulatory acts, the retention period mentioned above will be reduced or increased proportionately.

7. Data transferred to a country outside the European Union

Bank may transfer your personal data to countries outside the European Union (third countries) in the following cases:

- a) Where the European Committee has issued delegated acts for the adequate protection of the personal data in the specific country or to an international organisation.
- b) Where you have been specifically informed and have provided your explicit consent to Bank and the other conditions of the legislative framework are met.
- c) Where the transfer is necessary for the execution of a contract, for example where the transfer is necessary for the execution of a payment order to a bank account held at a credit institution in a third country, or in the event of a transfer for the purpose of executing an instruction relating to a transaction in financial instruments.
- d) Where such transfer is necessary to establish, exercise or support legal claims or defend Bank's rights.
- e) Where there is an obligation under a legal provision or a transnational or international convention.
- f) In the context of complying with obligations on the automatic exchange of information in the tax area, as these result from the regulatory framework.

For the fulfilment of the obligations set out in e) or f) above, Bank may transfer your personal data to relevant national authorities so that they can convey them to the relevant third country authorities.

8. What data protection rights you have

The following are the rights you have pursuant to the provisions of the GDPR as well as any other relevant legislation in relation to data protection:

- a) Right to request access to your personal data.
- b) Right to request correction of the personal data that we hold about you. This enables you to have any incomplete or inaccurate data we hold about you corrected, though we may need to verify the accuracy of the new data you provide to us.
- c) Right to request erasure of your personal data. This enables you to ask us to delete or remove personal data where there is no valid reason for us to continue processing it. Note, however, that we may not always be able to satisfy your request of erasure, for specific legal reasons which will be notified to you.
- d) Right to object. You have the right to object to the processing of your personal data, at any time and for reasons related to your particular situation where the legal basis on which the processing activity is based on our legitimate interests. In the event where you exercise this right we will no longer process your personal data, unless we can prove compelling legitimate grounds, which override your interests, rights and freedoms.
- e) Right to request restriction of processing of your personal data (i) if it is not accurate; (ii) where processing may be unlawful, however you do not want us to erase your data but rather to restrict it; (iii) where you need us to hold the data even if we no longer require it; or (iv) where you may have objected to our use of your data but we need to verify whether we have legitimate grounds to use it.

If you exercise the abovementioned right, the data in question, other than being stored, will be processed only with your consent or for the establishment, exercise or support of legal claims, or for the protection of the rights of another natural or legal person, or for important public interest reasons in the European Union or member state.

- f) Right to request the receipt of your personal data or its transfer to a third party (right to data portability)
- g) In case the processing of the data is performed subject to your consent, you may withdraw consent at any time where we are relying on consent to process your personal data. However, this will not affect the lawfulness of any processing carried out before you withdraw your consent.

Exercising your abovementioned rights is free of charge. However, please note that we may charge you with an administrative fee, in cases where requests are deemed unfounded or excessive, in particular because of their repetitive character.

We draw your attention to that fact that the Bank has, in any case, the right to refuse a request for restriction of processing or erasure of customer data if the processing or maintenance of these data is necessary for the establishment, exercise or support of the Bank's legitimate interest, its legal rights or for the compliance with its legal obligations.

The exercise of the right to data portability which takes place under the conditions laid down in the immediately preceding paragraph, does not imply the erasure of the data from the Bank's records.

9. If you choose not to give your personal information

In the context of our business relationship we may need to collect personal information due to legislative or regulatory obligations, or under the terms of a contract we have, or may potentially enter into, with you. Without this data, we are, in principle, not in a position to enter into or perform the terms of a contract with you, including the execution of transactions to and from your account and the provision of services to you.

Where data collection is optional, this is made clear at the point of collection.

10. To what extent we use automated decision making and profiling

Bank does not make decisions solely on the basis of automated processing.

Please be advised that part of your data may be automatically processed as part of our assessment of certain personal aspects (profiling), indicatively for the following purposes:

- a) Credit scoring.
- b) Assessments for the purpose of combating money laundering and fraud.
- c) Marketing of new products and services of Bank and/or of companies within the Alpha Bank Group or of third parties cooperating with Bank, as long as you have given your consent.

11. Lodging a complaint

Please let us know if you are unhappy with how we have used your personal information. You can contact us using the contact details stated in paragraph 2 of this privacy notice.

You also have the right to lodge a complaint to the Commissioner for the protection of personal data.

12. Cookies

When you visit our website, our system automatically collects information about your visit, such as your browser type, your IP address and the referring website. You can set your browser not to save any cookies of this website and you may also delete cookies automatically or manually. However, please note that by doing so you may not be able to use all the provided functions of our website in full.

13. Changes to our privacy notice

We may modify this privacy notice from time to time. We will notify you appropriately when we make changes to this privacy notice and we will amend the issue date of this privacy notice. The revised privacy notice will be available on our website www.alphabank.com.cy and at our Branches/Units and it is our recommendation that you review it periodically so as to be always informed as to how we protect and process your personal information.
